POST CONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

Sunday, December 4, 2016

1:00 - 2:45 pm MaryJo Bulbrook Becoming All You Can Be & Living Your Soul's Purpose

This experiential workshop is designed as a practical hands-on opportunity to explore the dimensions of your energy system including your body, emotion, mind and spirit. The honorable master teacher and practitioner Virginia Satir believed that the power is in the heart center to embrace life's opportunities. That being said, how do we access our heart power? How do we clear blocks that keep us from finding and living our truth? More importantly, what is the role the heart plays in influencing all we are and do? ($35)

MaryJo Bulbrook

1:00 - 2:45 pm David Bennett Experienter to Experienter Sharing Group

This is an opportunity for you to participate in and experience a Peer Group Meeting. A core facet of working with experiencers, who may be undergoing the aftereffects of a significant life event, is facilitating the integration process. This session will demonstrate through a gathering of peers where no one is "in-charge" but everyone agrees to abide by the group etiquette. The purpose of this support group session is to provide you with the tools necessary to start your own Experienter Peer to Peer Group Meeting. ($20)

David Bennett

1:00 - 2:45 pm Peter Anthony Thoughts from the Other Side $

The evidence of our thoughts plays a pivotal role in the outcome of our destiny. Energy goes where thought goes, is more a reality than we can imagine. Peter Anthony's life review demonstrated the importance of ones' thoughts. Our choices (thoughts) can easily navigate us to the shores of happiness... or to the shores of despair. Come and try something new! Learn how Peter Anthony listened to the divine voice from the other side and how it changed his life. ($20)

Peter Anthony

1:00 - 5:00 pm Jeannie Whyte Be Psychic Now

Every person is born with a unique ability to receive psychic information from God/Source. However, in our society, we are simply taught to ignore or shut down our natural psychic and intuitive skills. There are many ways to receive information; i.e., some people see images, some hear sounds, and some feel it, while others may just have an inner knowing or receive messages through dreams. These gifts are natural tools to connect to your Soul's inner guidance. ($65)

Jeannie Whyte

3:00 - 5:00 pm Alex Hermosillo Communicating with Loved Ones on the Other Side

"Humility, compassion, and love are the foundations of wisdom, and with that wisdom one can heal themselves and assist others in healing, raising the consciousness of humanity" ~Alex Hermosillo. Alex provides guidance from his innate connection with the Angelic and Heavenly realms, and he shares with us how to tap into our own God-given ability to heal ourselves so we all may experience a peaceful, happy and healthy life, what he calls, "Heaven on Earth." ($45)

Alex Hermosillo

3:00 - 5:00 pm Martee Thomas Tegtmeier Revolutionary ONENESS Laser Acupuncture & Nutrition

Using muscle-checking, which the American Medical Association recognizes as a reliable and valid method for the evaluation of non-pathological neuromuscular conditions, Martee, an expert in energetic kinesiology invites the audience on a self-healing guided visualization, to observe a demonstration of a fast, easy modality to find energetic patterns and to consider within an educational and hands on practical model for healing. ($45)

Lee S. Lawrence

Thursday, December 1, Morning Workshop, 9:00am - 12:00pm

Understanding and Healing the Wounds of Emotional Trauma with Lee Lawrence

Overwhelming emotional traumatic memories can shackle our lives, often blocking our ability to experience love and emotional well-being, even though we may have no recollection of the original event. When we understand how memories are stored and anchored in our consciousness, we can see how both physical and mental illness manifests and how we can heal ourselves. Our consciousness consists of physical, tangible fields that exist outside our physical body. When we understand how these fields interact with the body, we can learn to take charge and make corrective changes to our own fields healing both our physical body and our soul.

In this workshop, Lee Lawrence goes into detail about how and where psychological issues or memories of perception programming events are stored in these fields and how they are anchored in the physical body. When we understand the communication pathways of memory transmission in the fields (from the soul field where the memories are stored, into the peripheral nervous system and then into the central nervous system), we can see how the symptoms of illness and psychological patterns evolved. Lee will show us simple techniques we can use to identify our patterns and heal our wounds.

Lee explains and demonstrates the current application of depth psychology (which “seeks to explore underlying motives as an approach to various mental disorders, with the belief that the uncovering of these motives is intrinsically healing.”) to introduce a new powerful technique he calls “reverse depth psychology” that can greatly accelerate the healing process.

The ultimate content of the workshop will reflect the needs and interests of those attending. Areas likely to be covered include:

- How defensive mechanisms such as muscle contractions that result in physical back pain or headaches are created by emotional blocking in the brain
- How an unborn child perceives and stores the mother’s memories as his or her own experiences
- How inter-generational traumas are created and passed from mother to child
- How memories are stored from an emotional perspective of the experience at the original time of the event
- How children’s misperceptions can create psychological wounds that lead to unhealthy beliefs and behavior patterns that limit them throughout their lives
- How childhood amnesia blocks the retrieval of original unhealthy perceptions
- How a reversal of a person’s emotional subconscious reward-punishment system can generate positive responses to being punished and negative responses to praise thus creating a lifetime of self-sabotaging behavior, immune system suppress ion, or feeling “not good enough.”

Thursday December 1, Afternoon Workshop 1 to 4:30 pm

“Relationships, Love and Energy Psychology: Understanding Love Beyond Mars & Venus” with Lee Lawrence

“Why am I in this relationship?” “What’s missing in my life?” “Why can’t I find the right relationship?” If these questions sound hauntingly familiar, that’s because they are valid questions whether you are searching for someone, dating, just married, or celebrating your golden anniversary.

In this special presentation entitled “Relationships, Love, and Energy Psychology”, Lee Lawrence will demonstrate and explain our unconscious motivations and what creates the “chemistry of love.” Every relationship is unique, and understanding this uniqueness is the key to finding love that is fulfilling and lasting. Lee will clearly show—with audience volunteers— how energy psychology techniques can locate the perceptual programming events in our lives that have either shackled us into bad relationships, or motivated us to sabotage good relationships. With such awareness, we can at last truly set ourselves free to enjoy the benefits of healthy love.

Lee’s topics will include: understanding relationship dynamics, soul mates, the chemistry of love, types of love, and the Laws of Attraction in Relationships. This talk will give new philosophical understanding and perspective on relationships to provide insight for individuals to grow into more intimate, deeper, fulfilling relationships with self and others. The knowledge shared in this workshop is life changing. This knowledge self-empowers individuals and facilitates change to healthier relationships in the future.
